Tousen Kaname, the 9th division captain stands tall in the name of justice. Alluding to the blind strength of justice, Tousen believes that whatever path he takes shall be the best in the long run for everyone.

Bleach Manga information supports that Tousen's unwavering resolution is possibly due to someone he once cared for (possibly mother, wife/love or ally) died or was killed. His desire to protect everyone from then on out developed and allowed him to hone his skllls and eventually become a captain.

Along his path to become a captain, Tousen developed a lasting friendship with 7th division captain Komumura Sajin . "Looking" past Komumura's odd appearance as a giant man with the face of a fox, Tousen discovered that Komumura desired a world of the least amount of violence. The spectrum of their friendship is seen as they fight 11th division captain Zaraki Kenpachi
. Fighting together against Kenpachi, the two unleash both their shikai and bankai.
